

Senior Nutritionist & Technical Specialist – Pig Production

Our client is an Australian livestock consulting firm who specialises in technical and nutrition advice and formulations for the majority of the Australian pig population, with over 100 clients. The business has a broad range of activities including pig production, cattle and sheep feed lotting, live animal export operations, poultry production (layers, broilers, pheasants, quail, ducks, and turkeys), dairy production and calf rearing. The company is also engaged in international consulting in South-East Asia, (Japan, Korea, China, Vietnam, Philippines, Malaysia, Thailand, and Indonesia) as well as South America, the Middle East and New Zealand. There are 3-4 nutritionists employed in the business. They are searching for a Senior Nutritionist and technical advisor to join their business, preferably based near Adelaide in South Australia but location is flexible. The owner of the business would ideally like someone who is interested in taking an equity position in the business either now or in the future, but this is not a pre-condition to apply for this role, which has a remuneration package of around $150,000/annum. If you are interested in finding out more about this role then please contact me directly as per below or via our website.
